

Junior Economist placement job description

Job title:

Junior Economist (One-year placement)

The company

Fathom is a world-leading consultancy specialising in the global economy, geopolitics and financial markets. We provide trusted, independent research and consultancy for government and private-sector clients. Our offices are in Hoxton in London, near Old Street tube station.

The company culture is intelligent and proactive, encouraging contribution to lively debates, yet relaxed, friendly and flexible, and allows a good work/life balance. To find out more, please visit our website:

www.fathom-consulting.com/.

Job description

- Macroeconomic and financial research support for managers and a team of economists.
- Maintenance of chart books and databases, verification of data using multiple sources, and some basic written research.
- The Junior Economist role is central to producing and distributing Fathom's research. The successful candidate will contribute to Fathom's research and bespoke consultancy products for government and private-sector clients.

Skills required

- Highly numerate, self-starting individual with good writing and interpersonal skills.
- Must be willing to work flexibly within the structure of a small but fast-moving consultancy.
- Familiarity with MS Office, and Excel in particular, is essential.
- A keen interest in the application of economics and financial theory to financial markets.
- Familiarity with international data sources would be a great advantage.
- Fathom is a friendly, sociable place, so a sense of humour and willingness to 'muck in' with the rest of the team is important too.

Student visa (previously Tier 4 visa):

The placement is open to any candidate studying for a degree in Economics who is entitled to work for a period of one year in the UK.

Salary:

£24,000 pa

Length of placement:

One year from summer 2025 – exact date tbd

Junior Economist placement job description

Location:

Hybrid working: half at home, half in our offices near Old Street.

Deadline for applications:

1 November 2024.

Please apply by sending us a CV and covering letter via the Fathom Consulting website:

<https://www.fathom-consulting.com/working-at-fathom/>